VEGETINE.

An Excellent Medicine.

HOUNSFIELD, O., Feb., 8, 1877.

This is to certify that I have used VEGETINE, manufactured by H. R. Stevens, Boston, Mass., for rheumatism and General Prostration of the Nervous System, with good success. I recommend VEGETINE as an excellent medicine for such complaints.

Yours very truly,
O. W. VANDEGRIFT.

Mr. Vandegrift, of the firm of Vandegrift & Thurman, is a well-known business man in this place, having one of the largest stores in Springfield, O.

Our Minister's Wife.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Feb. 16, 1877.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir.—Three years ago I was suffering terribly with Inflammatory Rheumatism. Our minister's wife advised me to take VEGETINE. After taking one bottle, I was entirely relieved. This year, feeling a return of the disease, I again commenced taking it, and am being benefited greatly. It also greatly improved my digestion. Respectfully,

MRS. A. BALLARD.

1011 West Jefferson Street.

Safe and Sure.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

In 1872 your Vegetine was recommended to me, and yielding to the persuasions of a friend, I consented to try it. At the time, I was suffering from general debility and nervous prostration, superinduced by overwork and irregular habits. Its wonderful strengthening and curative properties seemed to affect my debilitated system from the first dose, and under its persistent use I rapidly recovered, gaining more than usual health and good feeling, since then I have not hesitated to give Vegetine my most unqualified indorsement as being a safe, sure and powerful agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to new life and energy. Vegetine is the only medicine I use, and as long as I live I never expect to find a better.

Yours truly, W. H. CLARKE,
120 Monterey Street, Allegheny, Pa.

VEGETINE.

The following letter from Rev. G. W. Mansfield, formerly pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Hyde Park, and at present settled in Lowell, must convince every one who reads his letter of the wonderful curative qualities of VEGETINE as a thorough cleanser and purifier of the blood.

HYDE PARK, MASS., Feb. 15, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS,

Dear Sir,—About ten years ago my health failed through the depleting effects of dyspepsia; nearly a year later I was attacked by typhoid fever in its worst form. It settled in my back, and took the form of a large deep-seated abscess, which was fifteen months in gathering. I had two surgical operations by the best skill in the State, but received no permanent cure. I suffered great pain at times, and was constantly weakened by a profuse discharge. I also lost small pieces of bone at different times.

Matters ran on thus about seven years, till May, 1874, when a friend recommended me to go to your office and talk with you of the virtue of VEGETINE. I did so, and by your kindness passed through your manufactory, noting the ingredients, &c., by which your remedy is produced.

By what I saw and heard I gained some confidence in VEGETINE.

I commenced taking it soon after, but felt worse from its effects; still I persevered, and soon felt it was benefiting me in other respects. Yet I did not see the results I desired till I had taken it faithfully for a little more than a year, when the difficulty in the back was cured; and for nine months I have enjoyed the best of health.

I have in that time gained twenty-five pounds of flesh, being heavier than ever before in my life, and I was never more able to perform labor than now.

During the past few weeks I had a scrotulous swelling as large as my fist gather on another part of my body.

I took VEGETINE faithfully, and it removed it level with the surface in a month. I think I should have been cured of my main trouble sooner if I had taken larger doses, after having become accustomed to its effects.

Let your patrons troubled with scrofula or kidney disease understand that it takes time to cure chronic disease; and, if they will patiently take VEGETINE, it will, in my judgment, cure them.

With great obligations I am

Yours very truly,
G. W. MANSFIELD,
Pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Proposed Abolition of the Various Pension Agencies.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.

The senate committee on pensions has been considering the propriety of abolishing all pension agencies and paying pensions directly from Washington. In answer to communications addressed to the interior department asking for views on the practicability and expediency of such a measure, the commissioner expressed a qualified approval, but also named what he deemed serious objections. Secretary Schurz, however, informed the commissioner that such a change would meet with his approval. The consolidation of agencies ordered by Gen. Schurz was a step in this direction. The districts are now in several cases so large that practically pensioners would be subjected to very little more delay in writing here and being paid directly from Washington. The annual saving to the government under such a change, would be certainly two hundred thousand dollars.

SOUTHERN MEN GETTING SHAKY ON THE SILVER QUESTION.

The decision of Senator Lamar to deliver a speech against the silver bill and the action taken by the merchants of Charleston are attracting much attention from Southern men and from all the friends of the Bland bill as well, and among the latter there is a fear of Southern reaction in the case of much further delay before the final vote is taken.

THE EXAGGERATION OF TROUBLES ON THE MEXICAN BORDERS.

United States Consul Wilson at Matamoras, Mexico, is here ready to testify before the house committee on foreign affairs. His evidence will be most emphatic in support of the view that the sensation over the troubles along the Mexican border has been deliberately worked up without the least just foundation, and that the whole outcry has been in the interest of speculators of various degrees on this side and those connected with rings at work on the other side.

PROSPECTS OF A LONG AND FRUITLESS SESSION.

THE TARIFF, MILITARY AND SILVER BILLS.

Congressional Dilatoriness.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.

Congress made as little progress with its important business last week as was conveniently possible, and the week was as dull as it was slow. Congressmen themselves complain of the inefficiency and trifling that characterize its proceedings, and they see no chance of escaping a long, wearisome session, resulting in a little political good. No bill has been passed though its final stages yet, and there appears to be no man in either house who has the faculty of driving on the business. The country may as well prepare itself for a long period of vexation. The various committees of the house instructed to make investigations are preparing that work, and there is every indication that it is to be thorough, and exhaustive. In every department preparations are making for the trial, and old piles of documents and vouchers are overhauled and being got ready for facilitating the work, for there is a general anticipation of being called to deliver up the records for a long time back.

CONTESTED ELECTION CASES.

The house committee on elections yesterday reported in favor of Wigginton, the democratic contestant for the seat now occupied by Pacheco, republican. Pacheco's majority was only one, and the committee have found a pretext to get rid of it. There is no doubt but their decision will be ratified by a party vote. The case of Dean against Field is next in order, and very likely will be reported on this week.

THE TARIFF.

The sub-committee of three of the committee of ways and means will report the revised tariff this week. This report will be made to another sub-committee of five, which will report to the full committee. It is understood that the revision is practically completed except in respect of sugar, and that the new bill names the number of articles taxed to be less than five hundred. When the bill will get to the house it is impossible now to predict, but it is safe to say it will not get through that body without a severe struggle.

MILITARY ACADEMY BILL.

The first of the regular appropriation bills was reported to the house yesterday. It relates to the military academy and proposes a reduction of about fifteen thousand dollars. The most notable provision of the bill is that prohibiting the appointment of lieutenants in the regular army from civil life while there are West Pointers uncommissioned. This feature will be likely to encounter opposition from those who think the American freemen is competent for any business without special training.

THE SILVER BILL.

Senator Lamar and Dawes are expected to speak on the Matthews resolution tomorrow. There is much interest concerning the views of the former. Mr. Dawes will not make a comprehensive speech on the resolution, but will reply fully to the assertion so frequently repeated that the legislation stopping the coining of silver dollars was consummated secretly and by a trick. It is doubtful whether a vote on the resolution will be reached tomorrow.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK.

The commission on the Yellowstone park has thus far failed to agree upon a report and recommendation to congress.

THE TEXAS BORDER.

Surrender of a Mexican Murderer.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 20.

After throwing all manner of obstacles in the way of delivering up the murderer Cordova, the Mexican authorities at Piedras Negras have at last turned him over to an American officer. Cordova is one of the band of highway robbers supposed to have killed six persons in this county. The Mexicans at Piedras Negras are much excited over it, and it is thought that a rescue will be attempted.

Information is received that Indians are raiding in large numbers through Wasco and Lano counties. Two men were killed by them, and a lot of horses have been stolen. Troops at McKavett are in pursuit.

THE EASTERN WAR

THE TURKS SADLY DEMORALIZED.

DESTRUCTION OF SUPPLIES AND AMMUNITION.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 20.

Mouktar Pasha has been appointed to command the army to be formed along the line of defence before Constantinople. The exodus of refugees from Roumelia is assuming colossal proportions. Before leaving Adrianople the Turks burned their provisions and blew up the ammunition.

CITIZENS OF ADRIANOPLE GOING TO MEET THE RUSSIANS.

The British Consul at Adrianople telegraphed this (Sunday) morning that a deputation of the inhabitants have gone to meet the Russians. No news of the Russian entry however, is yet received.

A DENIAL.

Minister Layard denies that he has asked authorization for the British fleet to enter the Bosphorus.

THE TURKISH DEFENCES OF CONSTANTINOPLE.

LONDON, Jan. 20.

An official Turkish telegram, dated this morning, enlarges upon the means of defence still possessed by the Turks, and says: Suleiman Pasha's army is concentrated at Drama, south of the Adrianople railway. A later Reuter dispatch, however, says nothing has transpired concerning Suleiman Pasha's whereabouts.

TRAGEDY IN NEWBURYPORT.

A Twelve-year-old Boy Kills a Child and Wounds Two Others with a Shotgun.

NEWBURYPORT, Jan. 20.

James Hennessey, aged 12 years, took a loaded gun, intending to frighten some little girls today, when it went off, instantly killing Rosa Farrell, aged 6 years, and wounding two smaller girls, one severely. He was taken to the police station.

Heavy Failure in Berkshire, Mass.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Jan. 20.

Pago, Harding & Co., of the Berkshire Glass Works and Boston importing house, have petitioned in bankruptcy. The liabilities will be over $100,000; assets, valuable real estate in Berkshire village, including sixty houses, four furnaces, and one thousand acres of land.

The Cleopatra Obelisk in the English Waters.

LONDON, Jan. 19.

The Cleopatra obelisk passed Margate this afternoon. All hands well. The weather is fine, and the obelisk is expected in the Thames at midnight.

An Advance in Coal.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.

The Reading Railroad Company has advanced the price of coal at their retail yards fifty cents, to take effect tomorrow.

And will be glad to receive orders for

HOUSE PAINTING in all its Branches.

Which we do in the best manner, and warrant the same to be as represented.

We also do

Carriage Painting

At the shop on Weaver avenue, rear of Ocean House, where we shall be glad to see our many former patrons, and as many new ones as will give us their patronage. But I respectfully decline to do up carriages for parties, who have not paid for having them done up in years past.

I have a great many carriages on hand of most all kinds, which I want to sell cheap; some extra nice phaeton top buggies, which are new, and warranted in every respect, also some nice sleighs and more to arrive, which I want to sell. One two seated timken with pleah, also pole and shafts.

Now one word to my friends who owe me, will you try to come up with the cash? if not with that just please come up and sign a note, which if good will help along, as sometimes notes are used to advantage, and none are too poor to sign a note. By that operation we shall be able to settle up accounts, and that will be one step in the right direction. To the many friends who have honored me with their favors I return them my thanks, and still ask a continuance of their favor.

PERSONALS.

.....President McMahon gave an audience to Henry M. Stanley, Friday, and complimented him upon his explorations in Africa.

.....The health of Elihu Burritt, the Learned Blacksmith, of New Britain, is much improved, and he expects to be out again in the spring.

.....Isabella Hooker talks of organizing a party of her sex to visit the southern capitals and address the legislatures on woman suffrage.

.....The reception given to Rt. Rev. Dr. Conroy, apostolic delegate to Canada from the Holy See, by the Catholic Union of Boston, Friday evening, was a pleasant occasion.

.....Mrs. Louise Woodworth Foss, the dramatic reader, whose spine was severely injured by a fall on the sidewalk at Boston a year ago, is still confined to her room at Hartford, Vt.

.....It is said of Joseph Jefferson, the actor, that his most vital personal trait is a love of truth. He was once heard to exclaim: "The blessed truth! I tell my children, 'For God's sake, tell the truth!'—the greatest armor a man ever put on him."

.....The pettiness and drudgery of a cabinet officer's life were a great revelation to Mr. Evarts; he says that he went to Washington to administer a great department, and feels like a chief clerk, with his time taken by one man's call and another's.

.....Mr. Marshall, the first discoverer of gold in California, still lives in Coluss, where he made his great discovery thirty years ago. He made a fortune in mining, but managed to spend or lose most of it, and now derives a comfortable living from the cultivation of grapes.

.....Frank Millett of East Bridgewater, the London News's war correspondent, writes that in entering a captured Turkish redoubt recently the first rifle he picked up was marked "Taunton, Mass.," and the next, "Providence, R. I."—and it made him feel he was somewhere near home.

Mrs Lord gave the minister at her first husband Hicks's funeral $600, with direction to pay the sexton $50, each of the colored carriers $25, retain $100 and distribute the rest among the poor. As there were two sextons in the place, the minister wrote asking which one she meant, when she at once sent another check for $50, making $650 in all.

TRAMPS.

An esthetic tramp refused a square meal in Medford the other day because it was served on Kinto ware instead of Satsuma.

A well-dressed tramp, bearing a two-quart jug, called at a Hampton Falls farm-house and asked to have it filled with cider. The farmer, not suspecting any trick, filled it, when the tramp started to run. He was followed by the farmer throwing stones, one of which demolished the "little brown jug," and another broke a rib for the tramp, who then surrendered and was taken to Exeter jail. On trial he was fined $10 and costs. The farmer was also fined $10 and costs for brutal assault. The tramp paid his fine from a good-sized roll of bills and a handful of silver, while the farmer was obliged to borrow.

One of Westerly's business men was handed a postal card, one day last week, to mail for a tramp. It was dropped into the Westerly office, after the following copy of it had been taken:

"JOHN—I am now in Plainville, Rhode island, it is a small place on the shore line. I have bin in several places since my last letter. I am now on my way to Providence, I stay in one town just Over night and then skip. I never pay for my logen. I engage a place to board and I will stay over night and then start for another town, my feet is sore from overdoing, but I will get work before long—do not answer it."

EARLY MORNING IN NEW ALMADEN.

In Scribner for February (the Midwinter Number), Mrs. Mary Hallock Foote, the artist, writes and illustrates a paper on "A California Mining Camp," from which we quote as follows:

Early morning at New Almaden is worth getting up betimes to see. Sometimes the valley is like a great lake filled with billows of fog,—pearly white billows, tumbling and surging with noiseless motion. It is more as if the clouds had all fallen out of the sky, leaving its blue intensity unbroken, and heaping the valley with fleecy whiteness. On windy mornings, the fog rolls grandly out to sea along the defiles of the triple chain of hills; when there is no wind, it rises and drifts in masses over the mountains, making the clear sunlight hazy for a moment before dissolving into it. After the rains, when the morning air has a frosty crispness, the mountains are outlined in sharp, dark blue against a sky of reddish-gold; even the tops of the distant red-woods may be traced, "bristling strange, in fiery light," along the horizon. As the sun lifts its head, the dark blue hills flush purple, long shadows stream across the valley, the windows and spires of San José sparkle into sight, and the bay reveals itself, a streak of silver in the far distance. There is no chorus of birds to break the stillness.

The first sounds I remember noticing as peculiar to the place, came up to us from a camp of Chinamen, happily out of sight, below the hill,—a cackling of discordant voices and a brazen beating and dromming which was explained to me as the Chinese cook's signal for breakfast, beating on a frying pan. Half an hour later came the long ringing call of the seven o'clock whistle from the nearest shaft-house. Still later a rustling and tinkling among the live-oak boughs, which screen the trail, announced the panadero from the Mexican camp. His gray mule pushed her way out from the scrub, with the great bread-baskets swinging, one on either side, their canvas covers damp with dew. The panadero sat in front serenely smoking a cigarette; a little bell tinkled at the mule's bridle. I was half sorry when we became a well regulated household with bread of our own baking, for then no panadero stopped at the gate on the foggy mornings, and went swaying and tinkling up the trail.

A striking illustration of the use of the telephone in a case of emergency was furnished by the recent terrible disaster to the Moody and Sankey excursion train on the Shore Line road. The first news came in the shape of a despatch to the Western Union Telegraph office in Hartford from Terryville, stating that a fearful accident had happened at that place, and asking that as many surgeons as could be obtained be sent out at once. The operator at Hartford immediately telegraphed to Isaac D. Smith's Capitol-avenue drug store, with which the office is connected by telephone, and the night clerk was awakened and told what was wanted. The drug store is connected by telephone so that twenty one different physicians could be summoned, which was done, and at the same time the clerk "telephoned" to a livery stable for an express wagon, into which, on its arrival, was packed bandages, morphine, chloroform and whatever was thought would be needed. Meanwhile the doctors, as instructed, went down to the Hartford depot. Superintendent J. T. McManus, of the Hartford, Providence and Fishkill road, had also been aroused, none of the Connecticut Western people being handy, and he had at once gone to work and gotten out an engine and some wrecking cars, which he had already on the arrival of the physicians. Extra passenger cars were also added, the bandages, drugs, &c., were taken aboard, and about a dozen doctors, and started for Terryville.

It has been found necessary to protect the submerged portions of war vessels not only as far as possible against the torpedo and the blow of a ram, but against the results of plunging fire. Many expedients have been suggested, but in no case have the leak-stopping devices been attended with complete success. An experiment, however, which promises to be attended with better success, is about to be tried at Portsmouth, England. It has been thought that if the bottom of a man-of-war were faced with India rubber of a considerable thickness the pressure of the water outside would effectually close the hole made in the hull by a plunging projectile which had forced its way through the decks, and the suggestion is to be submitted to a practical test.

The Lawrence city council was stricken with amazement the other day at receiving a petition from twenty three milkmen asking for the appointment of a milk inspector to hunt down all adulterating dealers. It finally transpired that the petitioners were conscientious milkmen who would blush to think of adulterating the lacteal fluid, and that they wanted protection against others, less scrupulous, who, by the ingenious device of increasing the amount of their milk by the addition of water, undersold honesty and drove it out of the market.

Friday was the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Rev. Joseph Tuckerman, who was the founder of free churches and ministry-at-large of the Unitarian Church. The occasion was observed in Boston by a special evening service in the Rev. William P. Tilden's church, corner of Camden and Tremont streets. The exercises were partly of a devotional nature, and the Rev. Charles F. Barnard delivered an appropriate address prepared at the request of the ministry-at-large.

MORE ABOUT BILLS.

THANKS ARE DUE to many of those who received bills from me in the early part of the month, for the prompt manner in which they paid them; some who paid so promptly did not do so from the abundance of their means but rather that being possessed of fine natures and knowing that in buying they had accepted the terms on which the articles bought were sold, they had carefully regulated their expenditures so as to meet their obligations when due. All honor to them and their kind; may their numbers increase! There still remains a long list of unpaid bills, the holders of which can do me a great favor by paying. The money received is not wanted to stow away in barrels or banks, but is wanted to pay debts that were contracted on the supposition that what they owe me were to pay at this especial time. Who will help to do it? Let no one feel that what they owe is too small to be of consequence for all help, and all are gladly received.

The Newport Daily News and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon, (Sundays excepted,) at the News building, 13 Church street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning, and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellany, and at least one good story, the latest markets and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large, 32 column paper, and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week, payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal. Terms $2.00 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the WHOLE YEAR is paid STRICTLY IN ADVANCE. These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter, are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra, and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the daily for one week or longer. Funeral notices 50 cents each. Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business and are allowed twenty five changes a year. No gratuitous advertising for any object. The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both the News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

Connected with the News is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

TO OUR PATRONS.

The publisher of the Newport Mercury has taken occasion, publicly and privately, to misrepresent the circulation of our papers as well as his own. In justice to ourselves and our advertisers, we have publicly denied the truthfulness of his statements and made a proposition to submit the proofs to a disinterested and impartial tribunal, which he declines, though persisting in his false statements. He probably refuses to exhibit his books in comparison with our own for the following reasons:

1.—They will show that he has not one half the circulation which he persistently and publicly claims.
2.—That we have more than three times the circulation that he ascribes to us, both in the city and county of Newport.
3.—That his circulation is less now than formerly and has been subject to a steady decline.
4.—That ours has regularly increased and is now larger than ever before.

THE DAY.

Gold went down to 1⅜ Saturday.

There will be a special meeting of the school committee this evening at the usual place.

Congress has done little or no business since the holidays. The members are probably getting ready for the great things that are to come.

We have in hand an advance copy of Gov. Van Zandt's message to the General Assembly, which will be found a very valuable document. We shall print it in full in tomorrow's News.

Since January 1st Postmaster Tobey of Boston has forwarded over four hundred short-paid letters to their address, at his own expense, trusting the receiver to remit the amount thus expended.

There were 126 deaths in Boston last week, 60 males and 66 females. Consumption carried off 37, other lung diseases 14, diphtheria 13, scarlet fever 6, heart disease 10, accident and typhoid fever 4 each.

Every foot of space in the American department at the Paris exhibition has been assigned, and at least 80 per cent. of the applicants for space have been refused for want of room to give them. The list of successful applicants will be published at once.

The friends of the Bland bill claim that the steady decline in the price of gold results from the belief that the bill will pass, in which case, silver being largely used as currency, the demand for it would lessen the call for gold and accordingly diminish its price.

The Blair croquet manufactory in Lowell, Mass., was destroyed by fire yesterday morning, involving a loss of $42,000. At Wrentham, Mass., by the burning of the straw works, one hundred hands are thrown out of employment; and about $75,000 worth of property destroyed.

The solid south is not quite so solid as has been supposed. The supposition that the republican party is dead in the southern states is not borne out by the recent elections. It will not do for either party to count on a united south in the election of 1880, nor upon a united north.

Rumors of peace apparently well grounded, come to us from the East. Turkey is humiliated and willing to submit to almost any terms in order to save her capital and her throne. Russia can now make her own terms, and they will not be found very easy. It is apparent that the Czar has not urged this costly war for nothing.

Charles Sumner's Explanation in Reply to an Assault, being a speech prepared but not delivered, is published by Lee & Shepard, and will throw much light upon questions of prevailing interest in the history of the Massachusetts statesman. The pamphlet will be read with eagerness as it has already provoked earnest not to say bitter discussion. It is well, probably, now that Mr. Sumner has been assailed afresh, that he should be heard in defence, even though while living he preferred to be silent.

It may be true that the automatic fog trumpet which the government has established off Bateman's point will save the lives of some sailors. Whether it does or not, it is sure to drive nervous landsmen insane or compel them to flee from their homes. The groanings of the infernal machine are distinctly heard for miles and there are sick persons, even in the city proper, who are made to suffer beyond the power of endurance. Is there no remedy? If the trumpet is to continue its dreadful sounds by night and by day, in fog and in sunshine, the region round about must eventually be depopulated.

At the Rhode Island Institute of Instruction held last week in Providence, resolutions were adopted expressive of high appreciation of several teachers who have died during the year, among whom is Miss H. Melissa Hunt of this city. In the election of officers for the ensuing year I. W. Russell was chosen president, and among the vice presidents we observe the names of Thomas H. Clarke and Miss Alice J. Jones of this city. Mr. H. W. Clarke, also of Newport, was elected one of the directors. The Institute seems to have been a very successful one. But very few of the Newport teachers were in attendance.

The old strife between capital and labor is raging in Lynn with unusual violence. On the ground that our sympathies are naturally with the weaker party we are inclined to favor the workmen. But when we consider the fact that the order of St. Crispin's, like other trades unions, undertakes to control both labor and capital, leaving little or nothing to be decided either by the employers or employed, and that this order is made up of the representatives of labor alone, we are drawn to the opposite side. The modern trades unions in almost every case undertake too much. They include dictatorial powers over not only such as are members, but over those also with whom the members have to do. The rules and regulations adopted destroy the freedom of the individual. The laborer is not allowed to fix the price of his toil, nor the hours of his service; neither is the employer consulted as to the price to be paid or the work required. All is settled by a board of control, a committee that really has no knowledge of affairs in their detail, and whose judgment is liable to be greatly warped by private considerations. When the trades union exerts its full authority the proprietors of manufacturing establishments are its mere servants, and the laborers themselves semi slaves. It is not strange therefore that there are frequent revolts. It is everywhere the same old story. The contest is for supremacy; for control. We remember no case where a strike under these auspices has proved of permanent benefit to the strikers. It will not do so in Lynn. The shoe makers will hold themselves in idleness for a time, business be driven out of the city, the limited funds of the poor exhausted, a few ambitious agitators fattened, and then affairs will settle down to the detriment of all concerned. This is the old, old story, told once more.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

It is a curious fact that the administration has no newspaper defender here of its financial opinions. The three morning papers are all for the silver bill. Even the careful and conservative Union defends the speech of Voorhees. Here is one third of congress anti-silver; here is a majority of the republicans in Congress against the Bland bill, and they find no defender of their opinions in the capitol. The fact shows the drift of public sentiment outside of New York and New England. It is somewhat strange that the great men of the senate are so silent on this question; no great argument on the right side yet from Edmunds, Blaine or Conkling. What is the matter? When Mr. Morton was in the senate, he always kept pounding away, day after day, on any subject which he had at heart. It is not true now of any prominent republican. Blaine is a presidential candidate. So is Conkling, and he has the custom house quarrel on his hands. Edmunds will doubtless speak, but either his health is poor, or he thinks it more judicious to wait till the close of the debate; till the bill itself is up. So far, the debate has been made upon the Matthews resolutions, and, when they are disposed of, the Bland bill with the finance committee's report will come up.—[Wash. cor. Springfield Republican.

THE PERIODICALS.

The Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay Street, New York, have published Blackwood for January in good season.

The serial, "Mine is Thine," is continued. The second article, "Murder of Commissioner Fraser, Delhi, 1835," is a striking narrative of circumstantial evidence, leading to the apprehension and conviction of an assassin.

The third article, being Part II. of "The Tender Recollections of Irene Macgillicuddy," will be eagerly read, as Macgillicuddy draws upon her memory and not upon her fancy, and introduces, under assumed names many personages known in "society." The first part, which appeared in the December number, has been much talked about. The article entitled "Religion," is an estimate of the general position of religious opinion in France, and the form and force of its action. "Schools of Mind and Manners" treats of the "discipline which fits for society," and the importance of forming the manners of children, instead of allowing them to form themselves. "Translations from Heine" are continued, and succeeding articles are devoted to the war in Turkey, and a consideration of England's policy in the East.

Godey's Lady's Book and Magazine for January commences the ninety sixth volume. For forty seven years it has been continuously published under one management, but it now passes into new hands. This number contains the usual fashion plates, designs for fancy work, stories, articles on dress, a sensible paper entitled "Hints on Home Adornment," household receipts, the design for a house, and a good juvenile department, which offers entertainment for the children. Bret Harte contributes a humorous story with a moral. The steel plate is the first of a series illustrating the Waverly Novels, and represent a scene from Ivanhoe. The general appearance of the book has been much improved by a new typographical dress.

The February number of the Phrenological Journal is received. Its contents are "Thomas A. Edison, the Electrician," with portrait, "Development of the Earth and of Earth Life," illustrated, "Education and Religion," "My Home Kindergarten, No. 1," "Popular Shows and Special Genius," "A Literary Pair," with portraits, "Light in Dark Places," a serial story illustrated, "Smollett as a Novelist," "Brain and Mind," "Fat as Food," "Hospital Construction," "Citron Fruits," and "Notes and Editorial Comments." The subscription price has been reduced from $3 to $2 a year.

The Nursery for February is as bright and sparkling as ever. How any family with a child in the house can get along without it is more than we can tell. J. L. Storey of Boston is the publisher and copies may be had at the news rooms and book stores.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—John Waters & Co. have returned from the Vineyard.

—The parties arrested for selling liquor have given bail.

—A new front is being placed on the building on the Read estate, corner of Spring and Touro streets.

—Meetings will be held each evening for the present at the First Methodist Episcopal Church commencing at 7½ o'clock.

—Mr. James B. Brayton has been appointed occasional inspector of customs, in place of Mr. J. H. Wilkey, resigned.

—Mary A. Gifford will hold a meeting at the Friends Meeting House this evening at seven and a half o'clock. All are invited.

—The Young Men's Christian Association, Joseph Bradford, president held an interesting prayer meeting on Saturday evening, at the First Baptist Church.

—Edward J. Cahoone living on Mill street was taken suddenly ill at Dr. King's office, this noon, and was carried to his home and medical aid was summoned.

—Services are held at the First Baptist Church this week begining at 7½ P. M. The meetings are also continued in the Central Baptist Church at the usual hour.

—The work of revival goes bravely on at the Thames-street Church. Last night ten persons requested prayers of Christians, six of whom professed conversion before the close of the second meeting.

—Miss Susan Wixen, of Fall River, Mass., will speak at the Reform Club hall, this evening. Miss Wixen has appeared in this city before, and is an excellent speaker. A select choir will be present to assist in the singing.

—A large whale is reported off the south end of the island. He passed close to the steamer Fearless without paying it the slightest attention, but seemed to be meditating. It is supposed he was on his way to investigate that fog horn.

—The yacht Dauntless was built some fifteen years ago for the late Mr. Dexter Bradford of Newport, when he had a reputed income of $400 a day. She was built at some place on Long Island Sound and completed in this city. Her name was originally L'Hirondelle (the Swallow), and it was the ambition of her owner to make her the most costly yacht afloat, $100,000 being the goal of his ambition. When completed the bills for construction, rigging, upholstering, etc., footed up to $90,000. Mr. Bradford sailed her for one season and then sold her to Mr. Bennett for $50,000. The yacht was lengthened out by her new owner and her name changed to Dauntless.

Sunday Services.—Rev. N. B. Thompson was with his people again yesterday, and preached two very appropriate and acceptable sermons. Mrs. E. J. Smith assisted the pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church during the day and evening in the revival work in progress in that congregation. Rev. Dr. Child and Rev. W. I. Magill officiated at Trinity Church, the rector being still absent. The revival meetings in the First and Central Baptist Churches were very interesting and encouraging. There was a large attendance at the Friends Meeting House, and more than the usual interest in the service as conducted by Miss Gifford and others. The other pastors were, as usual, in their own pulpits, and greeted with good congregations. It is evident that the people of Newport are much more given to church going at present than heretofore, as one of the results of the labors of Mr. Needham among us. In this respect all the congregations are sharing in the results of the revival work, and reaping benefit from the special services that have been held in our city.

Two candidates were baptized at the Unitarian Church yesterday morning.

Texas Jack.—Texas Jack and his combination will give their entertainment in the Opera House, on Tuesday evening. This frontier celebrity has not visited us in three years, but has been on the plains with several expeditions. He was with General Terry's command after Sitting Bull, and specially engaged as scout by the Herald. He guided Sir John Rae Reed on one of the most successful hunts in the history of the west. Last summer he conducted Captain Baily and a party of Englishmen, and young Ralston, of California, through the Yellowstone and brought them safely into General Howard's camp. At the same time the Carpenter and Cowan party were massacred. Since his first appearance on the stage he has not neglected to confirm, by actual adventure, his claims as a genuine western hero.

A SAD AFFAIR.

FOUR BOYS BREAK THROUGH THE ICE AT EASTON'S POND, SATURDAY—THREE RESCUED AND ONE DROWNED.

A sad accident occurred Saturday afternoon on Easton's pond near the Newport Laundry, the particulars being as follows:—Several boys were at the upper end of the pond skating. The ice was soft, and as the little fellows skipped over it would snap and bend, which fact should have alarmed the older ones, but failed to. Wm. Riggs fell in first and was immediately followed by his companion, Charles Easton, and about the same time two sons of Col. O. L. Shepherd, U. S. A., broke through. The two latter got out without assistance and were kindly cared for at the residence of Alanson Peckham. The commotion on the pond was seen by Mr. Geo. P. Leonard, proprietor of the laundry, who with his son started for the pond, taking a ladder with them. In the meantime, a son of Mr. Thompson, living near, attempted to reach the drowning lads, but found it as much as he could do to return to the shore in safety himself. As soon as possible the ladder was laid on the ice, but it proved too rotten to hold it.

Mr. Leonard and Mr. R. Peckham then turned their attention to Mr. Talbot's boathouse and bursting open the door were not long in launching the boat. They saw at a glance that it was useless to attempt to rescue the Riggs boy who had been in the water about 20 minutes and so they turned their attention to his companion. Easton was grabbed by Mr. Leonard while he was two feet under water, and as he was going down for the last time. They made their way to the shore, and carried their unconscious charge to the laundry. Arriving there hot blankets were quickly put around the little fellow, and the neighbors did everything in their power to restore him.

Mr. Leonard being in communication with the city by the Newport and suburban telegraph line, immediately called the office of Bull & Powell, and by means of the telephone, quickly told the circumstances, and requested that a doctor might be sent out at once. Mr. Powell, being alone in the office, without delay telegraphed to Caswell, Massey, & Co.'s, who sent their porter for Dr. Rankin. Fortunately he was found at his office, with his horse and buggy standing in front, and he promptly left for the laundry, and succeeded by hard work in bringing young Easton to his senses, after three hours labor.

The lad owes his life to the telephone, for, had his friends been obliged to send to town for the ordinary means, there would have been two deaths to record instead of one. Mr. Leonard and Mr. Peckham, as soon as they had left Easton at the laundry, went in search of Riggs whose lifeless body they brought from the bottom by the use of a grapnel after he had been in the water about half an hour.

The body was placed in a wagon and brought to the residence of his father, Mr. William Riggs on Catherine street. The parents were not aware until this moment that their son was away from the immediate vicinity of his home. A physician was called and the little body was rolled up in hot blankets, and every effort made for recovery, but in vain, as he had been in the water too long and life was extinct.

Arrest of Unlicensed Liquor Dealers.—The City Marshal and Capt. Hammond have been investigating places where it is supposed liquor was being sold without license, and have made several arrests. Warrants were served on the following named persons Saturday. Mrs. Mackey, No. 54 Long Wharf; Mrs. Dawson, wife of Andrew Dawson, Fifth Ward; Michael J. Driscoll, Dennison street; Sylvester Horgan, corner of Dennison and Thames streets; Stephen Buckley, corner of Batchelder court and Spring street; James Mackey, for maintaining a liquor nuisance; Andrew Dawson for keeping liquor for sale on his premises. Sylvester Horgan, M. J. Driscoll and Stephen Buckley were also arrested on the same charge, making two warrants apiece which were served upon them, the first one being for selling liquor without a license. It is understood that other arrests will follow.

THE VALUE OF A GOOD HOUSEKEEPER.

"I will say one thing in praise of my daughter," said a happy father, at that daughter's wedding breakfast. "She is a thorough and practical housekeeper." Could any compliment have been higher? What an endorsement it was to the good sense and prospective comfort of her husband! For a man has so much of the animal in his nature, that he cares more for a good dinner than he does—so long as his appetite is unappeased—to listen to the music of the spheres. Heavy bread has made many heavy hearts, given rise to dyspepsia and its herd of accompanying torments. Girls who desire that their husbands should be amiable and kind should learn how to make light bread. A story is told of a happy wife who, when asked how she managed her husband so successfully, replied, with a roguish smile, "My dear, I feed him well." There is a great deal in that. Those wives who are entirely dependent upon hired cooks make a sorry show at housekeeping. The stomach performs an important part in the economy of humanity; and those who forget this fact commit a serious mistake. Even the lion may be tamed by keeping him well.

OLD BLUE.

In my first housekeeping enthusiasm, I furnished my table with the most delicate white French china. My cups and saucers were daintiness itself. They were my pride and delight; no hands but mine were allowed to touch them. I bought a cedar tub and dish mop, and took care of my dishes myself. In that way I managed to keep my set complete; but I was compelled after a while, to give up my care of it, and then speedy destruction was inevitable. In an incredibly short time I hadn't a cup or saucer that wasn't chipped all around the edges; my plates were in the same condition, and several of the largest and most expensive pieces in the set were missing.

In three years I had replenished my china closet as many times, and the salesman, who filled my orders, could tell more accurately than I how much my white set had cost me. I know I paid about one hundred dollars for it in the beginning, and I am sure I doubled the first cost in keeping it in any kind of a state of completeness. Not only was it expensive, but every mark showed upon it, a chipped place or crack, no matter how slight, would soon discolor and make a blemish which never could be overlooked. I liked my white dishes when they were whole but I hated them when they grew so shabby.

It is a wise idea as well as a pleasant one, this of the revival of "blue willow." There are several reasons why this ware is the best for ordinary use. It does not show imperfections easily, it makes a table look cozy, the color giving a cheeriness that white does not impart, and, from the very manner in which it is made it will the better endure the treatment which it must of necessity receive from the hands of the different members of the kitchen cabinet.

There is no color which will endure such a strong degree of heat as this peculiar shade of blue; when the dishes are baked after the color has been applied, they are exposed to a hotter fire than any other ware can be subjected to. For this very reason they will not "surprise" Bridget so often by coming apart in her hands after a shower bath of boiling water.

THE TWO HOUSES OF GOTHAM.

Two houses there were in that our once,
Two houses all spangled with gold and gilt;
The one was the powerful house of Lords,
And the other the house of Vanderbilt.

O tell us, ye birds, what now of these?
"It's war to the knife, the knife to the hilt;
Sits high Widow Hicks, in the house of Lords,
And woe crowns the house of Vanderbilt."

In saving your money, darling boy,
Beware of the mocking, golden gilt;
Remember the fate of the house of Lords,
And think of the house of Vanderbilt.
—[Louisville Courier Journal.

MISS MARY F. WYETH.

"Give her of the fruit of her hands, and let her own works praise her in the gates."

"She stretched out her hands to the poor, yea, she reached out her hands to the needy."

"She opened her mouth with wisdom; and her tongue was the law of kindness."

"Strength and honor were her clothing, and she shall rejoice in time to come."

Miss M. F. Wyeth whose death occurred in this city Jan. 12th, was one of that noble band of women canonized by no church, and named in no ecclesiastical calendar, but found in every communion, and continuing not unworthily into our own times some of the traditions of the older sainthood. Starting in life with unusual personal attractions, with a high social position and with all the tastes, and culture which fitted her to adorn fashionable society, she was stricken while very young with a painful malady and confined more or less closely to a sick room for several years. Instead, however, of sinking into helpless and complaining invalidism this suffering became to her a school whose severe lessons developed the latent, energies and graces of her character and gave her higher sources of enjoyment than pleasure seeking alone could afford. For the last ten years she has been, with her mother, a resident of Newport, in whose atmosphere alone she could find bodily ease. She has made it, moreover, a place where not the body alone would thrive, while the spirit grows small, as is too often the case with a fashionable watering place, but where the soul, also, could find its own congenial airs. Not absenting herself wholly from the society she was so well fitted to adorn, or becoming in any way morbid or ascetic, she extended her acquaintance among the poor and unhappy, and to all those of every class who needed a helping hand, and identified herself in all the ways a woman could with the city she had made her home.

She seemed not to know the feeling of caste, and always made friends where she bestowed her bounties, so light was the burden she imposed. Indeed, she always avoided any ostentation of benevolence and often gave freely where cases were brought to her notice by others, under the condition simply that her name should not be known. She interested herself in all the Christian and benevolent institutions of her adopted city, giving generously to the Childrens' Home, the Holly Tree Coffee Rooms, the Dorcas Society, the Temperance movement, and to the Hospital. Since her death her private charities have been continually coming to light by the grateful confessions of those who have been their recipients.

She was no sentimentalist, but a practical woman, with a strong sense of responsibility and duty, of great self-reliance, managing her own business matters with skill and efficiency, profiting by the lessons taught her by her father, Mr. Leonard Wyeth, who was one of that class of merchants of an olden day in New York city, who were successful in business, but who never departed from the strictest honor and integrity in the management of their affairs. This capacity gave her a certain kind of power, but did not take the least from her womanliness or gentleness of character. She was an extensive reader and well acquainted with the new thoughts of the day, and, though making no literary pretensions, was heartily interested in all society where that was the aim and object.

Whatever may be said of the social separation of others who come here as residents from the towns' people, she has shown that it is possible for them to be bound to us by other ties than those of mercenary interest; and nowhere outside of her own family will she be mourned more sincerely than among the inhabitants of this, the city of her adoption. She was one of those blessed links which serve to bind all classes of people together, and, if the world only had enough of them, the antagonisms between wealth and poverty, capital and labor, now sometimes so threatening, would lose a large part of their significance.

The motive power of this beautiful life we have been sketching was an abiding and consistent piety, the faith that made itself manifest in works. Brought up a Unitarian, she always maintained her views without counting the cost of so doing, and with the same honesty and frankness which characterized her in everything else. It was a faith which ripened into sympathies that took in the good and true and Christian in all communions; and especially in her charities she recognized no denominational lines and no limits less broad than human need. Her last Sunday was spent at church, and her last act was to partake of the communion. The faith by which she had stood in health stood by her in her final pain and sickness, and she died in the blessed hope of drinking anew the fruit of the vine in the Father's everlasting Kingdom with Christ according to his promise.

Two Friends.

Surrogate Calvin rendered a decision, Saturday, in the matter of the will of Mrs. Mary W. Keese. She left $10,000 to ex-Governor Ingersoll of Connecticut, $10,000 to St. Luke's hospital, $10,000 to the library of the Society of New York, and the residue to St. Luke's hospital. Her sisters, Mrs. Drake and Mrs. Lawrence, who had been left small bequests, contested the will on the ground of undue influence. The entire estate is estimated at $80,000. The surrogate sustained the will.

The Paris correspondent of the Times says a telegram received from The Hague states that a marriage is contemplated between the Prince of Orange and Princess Beatrice, of England.

Of the 237 deaths in Burlington in 1877, 101 were from diphtheria. In 1876 there were 148 in all and nineteen from diphtheria.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE PARENT OF INSOMNIA.

The parent of insomnia or wakefulness is in nine cases out of ten a dyspeptic stomach. Good digestion gives sound sleep, indigestion interferes with it. The brain and stomach sympathize. One of the prominent symptoms of a weak state of the gastric organs is a disturbance of the great nerve entrepot, the brain. Invigorate the stomach, and you restore equilibrium to the great centre. A most reliable medicine for the purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is far preferable to mineral sedatives and powerful narcotics which, though they may for a time exert a soporific influence upon the brain, soon cease to act, and invariably injure the tone of the stomach. The Bitters, on the contrary, restore activity to the operations of that all important organ, and their beneficent influence is reflected in sound sleep and a tranquil state of the nervous system. A wholesome impetus is likewise given to the action of the liver and bowels by its use.

CUT THIS OUT—IT MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with lung disease, coughs, colds or consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderous cures astonishes every one that try it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your Druggist, J. H. Taylor, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it, or a regular size for 75 cents.

Consumption Cured.—An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipe in German, French, or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 126 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y. jan15 4w

WONDER WORLD.
BY
MARIE PABKE and MARGERY DEANE.
ILLUSTRATED BY LUCY G. MORSE.

"Will not go a begging for children's favors."—[N. Y. Tribune.

"A fine collection of old stories which will be warmly welcomed in this translation."—[N. Y. Eve. Post.

"The field of selection is boundless, and it may well be imagined that the Wonder World stories contain a fresh assortment. They are all characteristic, and some eminently so, of the countries to which each is accredited. * * The volume shows excellent discrimination and being handsomely brought out, must be ranked with the foremost features of the present year. It merits a permanent sale long after the gift season has gone by."—[The Nation.

"A remarkable book—it is not, as has generally been supposed, a child's book, unless the Arabian Nights and Æsops Fables are to be regarded in that light. To relegate such a book to the nursery would be an injustice to lovers of the best in this peculiar field of literature, for while its stories delight children, its chief design—to bring into defined contrast the temperament, humor, sentiment, the salient individual and national characteristics and times deserted is admirably effected. * * * It is a wonderful story (The Hungarian) and would alone lift Wonder World above the ordinary level."—[Boston Globe.

"* * Two women have brought together this little collection of which it may safely be said that not one is insignificant or wanting in amusing qualities. * * * It takes the pick of the fabulous lore of the whole world."—[Scribner's Monthly.

"Clear type, fine paper, pretty binding. * * * * Wonder World will prove a popular favorite, and a permanent addition to the lore of fairy land. The last story is alone worth the price of the volume."—[Christian Register.

"We heartily recommend this book."—[The Churchman.

"The translators are to be congratulated upon their arrangement of a volume as unique and valuable as it is delightful."—Portland Press.

"The wonder is where the translators found all these legends and fine stories."—Hartford Times.

"A source of perpetual delight to the lad and lassie fortunate enough to possess it."—[Fort Wayne Sentinel.

SUNDRIES.

On the 20th of April next Phillips Academy completes the first hundred years of its existence.

A Kentucky woman disguised herself and whipped her rival. Now she is trying to mask her raid.—[N. Y. Herald.

Lydia Thompson is worth a quarter million dollars. So much for dressing economically.—[Danbury News.

Why is the money you're in the habit of giving to the poor like a newly-born babe? Because it's precious little.

A medical writer says poor circulation is indicated by cold feet. Greenbacks must stump around on icicles in these parts.—[Bridgeport Standard.

The ladies are all opposed to the telephone. They don't care to have a young fellow whispering in their ears with his mouth twenty miles away.—[Funny Folks.

Great quantities of clothespins are shipped from the United States to New Zealand. The life of a clothespin in New Zealand must be a sluggish existence.—[Danbury News.

"Hav ye got air clock to sell—somethin' noice, for a present to me sisther?" "We have all kinds of clocks," replied the jeweller—"twenty four hour clocks and eight-day clocks, from $1.50 up to $300 in price. Here's one that will suit you—a fine French clock, worth $15." "Divil take yer French clock? Give us wan that me sisther kin understand whin it sthrikes!"—[Oil City Derrick.

There is a thief in Memphis whose name is necessity, and who knows no law. Every night he enters and plunders a handsome residence, and every afternoon he writes a pleasant letter to the head of the family whose treasures he has robbed, stating that he will be very glad to restore them, if a suitable reward is offered. He writes a nice hand, uses good paper, never misspells a word, and conceals his personality under the signature of "Necessity." So cleverly are the robberies planed that all the efforts of the police, from the chief down to the youngest detective, are baffled.

The establishment of a zoological garden on a magnificent scale is being considered in earnest in New York, to be located in Central park. The prime movers in the enterprise are gentlemen who have been identified with the museum of natural history in that city. Mr. Olmstead, until recently the landscape gardner of the park, has made a favorable report on the project.

BOVININE
OR CONCENTRATED
BEEF JUICE.

For purposes of nourishment "Bovinine" is fast taking the place of "Beef Extracts," being far better suited to the most delicate patients. Consumptives and those suffering from debility or low state of the system, derive great benefit from its use. In cases of Poverty of Blood, accompanied by General Debility, this invigorating preparation is peculiarly adapted. Physicians, after several months' trial, pronounce it one of the best articles of nourishment they have ever seen; it containing the chief essentials, in a form palatable and easily absorbed without taxing the digestive organs, and also being entirely free from any drug, they have no hesitation in recommending its use.

THE WEEKLY
SPRINGFIELD
REPUBLICAN!

The best General Weekly Newspaper in America.

FOUNDED IN 1824
—BY—
SAMUEL BOWLES.

THE WEEKLY REPUBLICAN is made up with especial care for a general circulation, and may fairly claim to be the best eclectic weekly newspaper in the country. It offers itself especially to politicians and scholars, to New Englanders, at home or in distant parts of the country, and to Americans abroad, as giving, in a single sheet, a more comprehensive and impartial summary of general New England and American news, and fuller and more independent discussion of all prominent topics of American life, and a more varied picture of our literary, art and social progress, than can be found anywhere else.

Subscription Rates; $1,00 for six months; $2,00 a year; two copies to one address, $3.50; three copies $5; five or more copies, $1.50 each.

☞ Special cash commission to active local agents Specimen copies free. Checks and postoffice orders to be made to Samuel Bowles, otherwise, address THE REPUBLICAN,

AND CAREFULLY ARRANGED WITH SPECIAL REGARD TO THE WANTS OF READERS IN CITY OR COUNTRY WHO WANT A
GOOD NEWPORT PAPER
BUT WHO DO NOT TAKE A DAILY FROM THIS CITY.

Let the JOURNAL be compared with any other weekly paper published in the south part of the state and its superiority in the quantity and quality of its contents, particularly in its news departments, will be at once seen. In it are found every week all the minor matters of local news and reports of entertainments, meetings, celebrations, etc., in Newport and vicinity that in fullness and excellence will compare favorably with reports in the papers of larger cities. We state not so much an opinion as a fact, that will become apparent to any disinterested person who compares it with other papers, when we say that, for all residents of Newport county and all persons who have moved out of the county but wish to keep posted regarding affairs at their old home, the best paper without exception

Testimonials.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the patent office.
EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly,
GEORGE DRAPER.
